

NECKLESS

Indie Art Rock (CH)

Powerful, unique and kind of different.

Rowdy compositions meet bitter-sweet melancholy, driving grooves mingle with crashing crescendos and vigorous guitar riffs. Meanwhile, the band eludes the common clichés by arousing expectations and dismantling them in the next moment.

Neckless established their reputation as being one of Switzerland's most unconventional indie rock acts. The five friends from Winterthur win their listeners over with great compositions. And already count as an outstanding live band. Swiss Radio Broadcaster SRF3 named the band "Best Talent", and in 2012, the gang toured Europe in their motorhome, playing metropolises like Vienna, Berlin, and Paris.

After a successful second album, Neckless stepped up their game, and released "Cenesthesia" in 2014 – which eventually won them first place in Switzerland's largest music contest, the "MyCokeMusic Soundcheck 2014". The album is witness to the typical sonic worlds, built from sublime hymns and astounding sounds. This time, the quintet pays an even more consistent homage to their voluptuous, majestic rock pomp.

Neckless combine great gestures of rock with artistic self-conception and a pinch of self-mockery to an oeuvre of pure, unleashed energy and absolute vigor.

Powerful, unique and kind of different.
